Teaching kids good manners is an important part of parenting, but it can be challenging to help your child master proper etiquette. By being consistent, using clear explanations and reminders, and praising often, you will be proud of your child's mastery of manners. Being respectful will help build your child's self-confidence and independence.

As a parent, you set the example for polite behavior simply by the way you act. When your child sees you speaking politely, being considerate, following rules, and using good manners, they will follow your lead.

September is Good Manners Month, and our teachers will be focusing on learning this important character trait.

Popcorn & Chocolate Fundraiser

Sales begin on September 22 for our Popcorn and Chocolate fundraiser, so don't miss this opportunity to choose some perfect gifts for friends and relatives and to support Endless Discoveries at the same time!

Labor Day

Remember that we will be closed on Labor Day, September 4. On this day, we pay tribute to the contributions and achievements of American workers. Labor Day weekend also symbolizes the end of summer and the beginning of the school year.

Parents' Night Out

We will be having Parents' Night Out on Friday, September 15, from 6:00 to 10:00 p.m. with pizza, movies, games & fun!

Grandparents' Day

We would like to invite all grandparents to join us on Friday, September 8 from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., for Pastries on the Go, juice and photos.

We are grateful for your being our heroes, someone to lean on, and our best friends. "Grandparents are like stars. You don't always see them, but you know they're there."
